

ANNOUNCEMENT

Lausanne, March 16 2020

The International Championship of Mathematical and Logical Games against Covid19

To our participants, our partners, our volunteers all around Switzerland, our sponsors, the federations of the different countries, the press, and to all friends of mathematics,

After the cancellation of the continuation of the International Championship of Mathematical and Logical Games in Switzerland and after coordinating with the federations of the other nations, it is with great regret that the following decision was made:

The International Final of the 34th Championship, scheduled on Friday, August 28 and Saturday, August 29 2020, is cancelled.

However, in the process, the federations also endorsed another decision and we are delighted to announce that:

The FSJM, Switzerland and EPFL are looking forward to organize and welcome in Lausanne the international final of the 35th Championship, in August 27 and 28, 2021 !

As indicated in our previous announcement, in order to allow everyone to keep playing with mathematics, participants qualified for the semifinals and everyone else, in Switzerland and elsewhere, will instead have the opportunity to participate in the semifinals online from home on Saturday, March 21 at 2pm, as previously transmitted and as explained on our website, www.fsjm.ch.

We therefore give you an appointment from March 21 onwards on our website, and to all of you, friends of mathematics, we will be back soon! The mathematics are still in the game, and we are looking forward to continuing to organise this Championship until the international final of Lausanne 20 < 21 !

The Committee of the Swiss Federation of Mathematical Games